

Potosi School District's Engine:

Communication is the grease inside the engine.

Communication reduces friction between each part and allows the engine to work smoothly.

Communication involves understanding and taking into consideration other people's personality make up, using conflict resolution skills, listening to other people's points, being open to knowing that you are not always right, reflecting on other people's ideas, remaining positive, being reflective, being flexible and willing to change.

Effective communication is also agreeing not to criticize, condemn, or complain. It is about trying and working to be a part of the solution, to work for solutions, and to think of problems as challenges that will be solved.

Effective communication involves an optimistic and positive attitude. It also involves holding each other accountable to the District's expectations. It involves appropriate crucial conversations to help each other remain focused on our mission.
